CHARITIES BUREAU ELECTS OFFICERS.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY ON HAND TO CARRY OUT

THE WORK THIS SUMMER. At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Alfred T. White; vice-presidents, Darwin R. larnes, the Rev. S. A. Ellot, General Stewart L. Woodford; recording secretary, Isaac H. Cary; treasurer, Crowell Hadden, jr.; medical adviser, Dr. J. H. Raymond; Executive Committee, M. A. Ruland, James P. Wallace, James Silkeman, John Truslow and the president, vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer ex-officio. Finance Committee, Irving Comes, F. W. Moss, S. B. Chittenden and the president and treasurer ex-officio. William

I. Nichols was appointed general secretary. The treasurer's report for the year shows the collections to have been $17,100 52; balance on hand, $3,099 52. The Board wishes it understood that this amount will not be sufficient to cover all necessary expenses for the summer months. Additional contributions are earnestly desired from all those disposed to aid the charity. The various industries kept up by the Board were reported to be in good condition. There are not as many applicants as there were in the years 1894 and 1895, but, notwithstanding, there are enough of those temporarily out of employment to tax the resources of the Board. It was decided to send the general secre-tary to the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, to be held in Grand Rapids June 4 to 10.

EX-ALDERMAN UNDER BAIL.

JOHN F. ROEDER CHARGED WITH PERJURY IN SWEARING FALSELY ON A BAIL BOND-HE DENIES HIS GUILT.

In the County Court yesterday afternoon, Ex-Alderman John F. Roeder was arraigned on an indictment for perjury in swearing falsely on a bail bond. The defendant was arrested on a bench warrant. He pleaded not guilty, and his ball bond was fixed at The charge against the ex-Alderman is that he went on the bond of John Morrisey, charged before Justice Goetting with grand larceny, and that he gave as security the house at No. 53 Maujer-st., saying that it was worth $4,000, and that he owns it. It is alleged by the prosecution that he does not own the house at all.

After the plea had been entered the defendant said that he had signed the ball bond under a misapprehension as to his powers. The house had be-longed to his father, who was dead, and the estate was in the Surrogate's Court in process of settlement. He and his brother and sister were the only heirs, and as he had a power of attorney from his heirs, and as he had a power of attorney from his brother and sister, he thought that he might give the property as security. In any case, the man had been surrendered and tried, and was now serving his sentence. Mr. Roeder said that he had no intention of doing anything that was even technically wrong. He admitted that he signed the name of his father. John A. Roeder, to the bond, but he said that he did so because the property was in the Surrogate's Court and still in his father's name.

APOSTROPHES TOO FREELY USED.

THE NEW SIGNS ON THE OCEAN PARKWAY ARE A CAUSE OF WONDERING COMMENT.

The artist employed by Park Commissioner Woodruff to paint the new signs that have been placed on the Ocean Parkway seems to have had an oversup-ply of apostrophes in his "font," and distributed them with a lavish hand. The signs, accordingly, convey impressive warnings to all "wagon's" and "truck's" that they must keep on the side "road's," and at the bottom Mr. Woodruff is painted down as "Commissioner of Park's." The signs cause the knowing ones to smile as they pass by, and they also wonder why Commissioner Woodruff felt it necessary to have his own name put conspict on each of the signs. One passerby remarked to his companion yesterday:.
"'Our Tim' must be fond of seeing his name in print, as it were, or else the painter has thought to flatter his vanity. Signs of this kind are generally supposed to be permanent, but if things go as 'Our Tim' hopes, it will not be long before they will have to be taken in for revision. It is general ly understood that he is ambitious to be nominated for Lieutenant-Governor. If he gets the nomination it will be necessary for him to resign from his present office 100 days before the election. In that event he will have to leave the Park Department last part of July, if my calculation is corin the last part of July, if my calculation is correct. Of course his successor could not permit the public to carry the idea that Mr. Woodruff was still Commissioner, and, of course, the signs would have to be made over. Anyhow, Mr. Woodruff is not likely to be Commissioner lenger than two years, and in the circumstances it was hardly necessary for him to have his own name put up there so conspicuously. 'By order of the Commissioner of Parks' (without the apostrophe) would have been all-sufficient, and then the next incumbent would have no trouble on account of the signs."

ONE OF HIS EYES MUST BE REMOVED.

The Rev. Charles Herald, pastor of Bethesda Church, has long been suffering from a peculiar dis-ease of the eye, and has been unsuccessfully treated vised by them that, in order to save his left eye, the right one must be removed. The operation will be performed next Saturday at 3 p. m., and Dr. Behr-ends, of the Central Church, has requested the prayers of his people for Mr. Herald, whom he holds in high esteem. Bethesda Church is a branch of the Central Society.

PHILHARMONIC DIRECTORS ELECTED.

At a meeting of the Brooklyn Philharmonic Soclety, held in the directors' room of the Academy three years were elected. They are: William R. Bunker, Fred A. Ward, Alexander E. Orr, W. W. Goodrich, General C. T. Christensen, John S. Frothingham and Robert B. Woodward.

MOTHER AND SON DIED THE SAME DAY. John A. Driscoll, forty-two years old, and his mother, Catherine M. Driscoll, both died on Monday. He was a New-York salesman and lived at No. 154 Luquer-st., and his mother at No. Bergen-st. Mrs. Driscoll was the widow of John Driscoll, who once had a position in the county institutions in Flatbush and died thirteen years ago. Mrs. Driscoll was sixty-two years old. She died rather suddenly. Her son died from consumption. He leaves a widow and three children. Both will be buried at Flatbush, one to-day and the other to-morrow.

FATHER CROWLEY'S DENIAL

HE SAYS THE YOUNG WOMEN WERE IN-TRUSTED TO HIS CARE.

THEIR BRIEF STAY IN HIS HOUSE NOT IN VIOLA-LATION OF CHURCH DISCIPLINE-WITNESSES

CITED AND CARRIED A WHIP WHILE

IN THE PRIEST'S HOUSE, The suit of Mrs. Elizabeth King, of No. 53 Myrtle-ave., against a New-York morning newspaper to recover $10,000 damages for alleged libel was re-sumed yesterday in Part IV of the Supreme Court before Justice Osborne. Mrs. King has a similar suit pending against the Rev. James F. Crowley, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, for $50,000. Both suits resulted from similar causes. Mrs. King lived in 1893 in Southold, Long Island, and Father Crowley was pastor of St. Patrick's Church, in Southold, and of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Cutchogue. Father Crowley had a housekeeper, Mrs. Lottie Slebold, and Mrs. King was her devoted friend. She visited Mrs. Slebold almost every day, and Father Crowley objected, and, according to Mrs. King, made several statements about the latter's character which did not tend to improve her stand-ing in the community. She testified that she went to the church and asked him why he had spoker against her character. Father Crowley denied that he had done so, and then she made several state ments reflecting more seriously upon Father Crowley's moral character.

She took several witnesses with her, and in their presence she charged him with not acting properly toward two young girls, whose names she mentioned. Father Crowley denied these statements, but admitted that he had been on friendly terms with Anna and May Higgins, the young girls re-ferred to. They had spent one night in the house when the housekeeper was away. On the stand yesterday Father Crowley stated he had never spread the report that these girls were his nieces. He stated that he was aware of the con tents of the Roman Catholic Church's book of discipline. He said there was positively no rule in the book prohibiting young unmarried women not officially connected with the household from remaining over night in a parochial house. He denied that he had helped in a preparation of the defence in the action. In cross-examination he told of the scene in the sacristy when Mrs. King and her witnesses taiked with him. He said that Mrs. Siebold was there and made a big disturbance. When Mrs. King entered she said, "Now I have you, and I'll you prove what you said about me." He replied that that was not a place for such a controversy, but to go into the house and he would talk

HE MERELY BEFRIENDED THE GIRLS.

There were then present Florry and Josephine Maxwell, Mrs. Theall and Mrs. Diller. There was a whip in the house which he first saw in Mrs. King's hand. He said that he objected to Mrs. King com ing so often to the house, but denied that he had given a tongue thrashing to any of the villagers for the interest they had shown in the controversy Mr. Einstein questioned him about the Higgins girls. He said that their mother was dead, and their father was in Ireland. Before the latter left he had asked the witness to look after the girls. He had done so. His relations to them had been above reproach. They are twenty-two and twenty-four years old respectively.

Thomas C. Fox testified that on the morning of the interview in the sacristy he had heard Mrs. King say: "By George, I've got you now." Father Crowley wanted her to hush, but she would not. She said she had been quiet long enough. He went out, and Miss Florence Maxwell asked him to go in and see the affair out, but he declined. Mrs. Frank Diller, of Peconic, testified that on the day in question she saw Lottie Siebold prancing around on the plazza of Father Crowley's house. Later on after mass, she heard a woman speaking in a loud after mass, she heard a woman speaking in a loud tone in the sacristy where Mrs. King, Mrs. Siebold and Father Crowley were.

Mrs. King was accusing Father Crowley of immoral conduct with the Higgins girls while Mrs. Siebold was standing by. She went to the door and called in Mrs. Theall and Miss Maxwell. They all went to the priest's house where, in the diningroom, Mrs. King was marching up and down with the whip over her shoulder, and talking all the time. Witness's husband entered and said if Father Crowley would not put Mrs. King out he would do so himself. Father Crowley then half led and half forced Mrs. King outside the door. She raised her whip as if to strike him, but Diller prevented her.

would have stayed in the wagon, and waited there for his wife. Father Crowley stated when Mrs. King made her charges that he had said nothing about Mrs. King's character. Witness did not want to see Mrs. King raise any trouble, and so he prevented her from striking Father Crowley with the whip. Whether she really intended to do so or not he did not know. But he did not think Father Crowley stood in any real danger.

BLOWN DOWN BY THE STORM.

A BIG WILLOW TREE, DECAYED INSIDE, FELLED BY YESTERDAY'S SQUALL.

When the rainstorm burst at 2:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon the sudden gust of wind that accompanied downpour struck a large willow tree in the west side of Nostrand-ave., near Butler-st. It broke the tree off short, and the heavy top fell across the feed tree on short, which were the feed cables from being graph pole, which wed the feed cables from being torn from the poles. Several telephone wires came torn from the poles. Several telephone wires came down, and there was a good deal of stray electricity sputtering around.

An examination of the tree showed that its interior was all decayed and eaten by black ants. All the old willows throughout the city are similarly affected. The foliage looks luxuriant, and a couple of inches of the wood next to the bark is sound, but the interior is invariably diseased in willow trees of any size. This fact mak's these trees positive sources of danger to life and property, and easily accounts for the number of willows that succumb to every gust in summer.

OPEN-AIR WORKERS IN CONVENTION.

The fourth annual convention of the Open-Air Workers' Association of America will be held this afternoon and evening in the Hanson Place Baptist afternoon and evening in the Hanson Face Daploss

Cornelius Harrington, a 'longshoreman living at No. 97 Dikeman-st., South Brooklyn, was last night caught in the act of stealing several pieces of timber from the Erie Basin, and after a fight was killed by Special Policeman Sammers, who lives at No. 102 Fortleth-st. The officer was arrested and locked up in the Hamilton-ave. staon. He will be arraigned in the Butler Street Court to-day. The charge against him is murder. Sammers is employed by Hilton, Dodge & Co., who own a number of lumber rafts now lying in the Eric Basin. He went on duty at the usual time last night, and after making his rounds saw several men going about on the lumber pile. He made an investigation, and discovered Harrington and two other men.

Seeing that they were discovered, the thieves showed fight. Sammers seemed to be getting the worst of the encounter, when he seized a the worst of the encounter, when he seized a piece of an oar and struck wildly about him. REPORTS OF PROGRESS AND COMMISSIONER WOODRUFF'S EXPLANATION AT THE

ASSOCIATION MEETING. The third public meeting of the Good Roads Association was held last night at the Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club. A. H. Angell presided, and the secretary, S. B. Meacham, made the semi-annual report, which chronicled briefly the work of the association for the last six months. The increase in membership has been marked, there being now 1,154 names on the roll. President Angell spoke of the work accomplished since the last meeting. He then referred to the near completion of the return cycle path and the repaying of Glenmore-ave., and uded by introducing the first speaker as a man who did that most remarkable thing for a politician

Mayor Wurster was received with the heartlest applause. He thanked the chairman for the flatterng introduction given him, and said: "For many years I have driven over Brooklyn streets and the surrounding country roads, and I have often thought while taking the drives for business or pleasure that the best thing we could do for Brook lyn and her drivers of vehicles and riders of wheels was to provide them with good roads. Last year more than twice as much asphalt pavement was aid as in any previous year; this year the amount pended was $250,000, making, with the amount paid by the property-holders, $500,000; this year $1,000,000 will be spent for this improved pavement." Mayor then referred briefly to the macadamizing of Eastern Parkway and Glenmore-ave., Twenty-sec ond-ave, and the Shore Drive. These, he said, would make connection with the good roads of Queens County, and give Brooklyn wheelmen the long rides they so much desire.

When they reach the Park they are careful not to enter it, but take the path around the outside. The rule of the Park is that no flowers shall be carried out of it, and if a cyclist was seen coming out with dogwood branches, the police could not tell whether they had been procured in the Park itself or outside of it. The woods at Bergen Reach have also furnished another source of supply of dogwood flowers, which seem to be free to all comers, but the ublquitous small boy has been on hand there to supply those riders who do not care to climb the trees and lay in their own supplies. The gathering of these flowers is about over for the present season. Along with the dogwood branches some of the boys on the path have been offering violets for sale to the numerous passers-by on bicycles and in carriages.

M. COQUELIN "LOSES."

HE IS FORBIDDEN UNDER PENALTY TO PER-FORM PUBLICLY IN FRANCE. From The Paris Galignani.

From The Paris Gallgnani.

The First Chamber of the Appeal Court in Paris has rejected the appeal of M. Coquelin ainé against the judgment of the Civil Courts forbidding him to perform at any theatre in Paris or the provinces without the consent of the Minister of Fine Arts, under pain of a fine of 500 francs for each performance, cancelling his contract with the Comédie Française and making him forfeit his shares in that theatre as well as his retiring pension.

The judgment of the court came into effect last night. If in spite of this judgment M. Coquellin continues to act in Paris or the departments, the court will deliver another judgment after his thirtleth performance.

A reporter of the "Liberté" telephoned to the Porte Saint-Martin Theatre yesterday afternoon to ask if, in consequence of this judgment, "Thermidor" would be given last evening. The reply was that the performance would not be interrupted.

A high functionary of the Department of Fine Arts said, in an interview published by the "Gaulois" a few days ago, that in the event of M. Coquelin's being forbidden to act in France, a possible solution of the difficulty would be for the Minister of Fine Arts to authorize M. Coquelin to play at the "Second Comédie Française." that is to say, the Odeon.

LUCK IN MINING.

From The Durango Democrat.

From The Durango Democrat.

"I could have owned balf the Enterprise Mine at Rico for $250 if a telegram from Denver had not announced the decision of the doctors to use the knife on my baby boy for hernia. I lost more than $1,000,000, but I stopped the knife, and my boy is healthy and rugged."

These were the words of a gentleman sented with a group of prospecture a few evenings are, which led up to a number of stories relating to similar incidents.

"I knew a man more fortunate than myself, however, who grasped his opportunity," continued the speaker. "Dave Brown, of Aspen, gave a prospector $15 worth of lumber and get one-fourth of the Aspen mine Brown was then a stock clerk. He is now a millionaire, banker and operator."

"It's not siways management that secured a fortune." ventured another of the group. "It was luck, pure and simple, that made Dave Swickhelmer a millionaire. He knew nothing about mining, but a miner told him to sink and he did sink. He ran out of money several times, but others, who were interested in learning what greater depths he would encounter on Dolores Mountain, loaned various sums, and at last a lucky lottery ticket drew $4,000, and this money reached the ore in the Enterprise Mine."

"Yes, luck has a great deal to do with it," said the third speaker. "Several people in Durango had an opportunity a few years ago to get into the Columbus Mine in La Flatt for a few dollars when the Dutehma who located it owned it. I knew one Durango man who had a good chance to buy the mine for less than $90, the price received, who had spent twice as much trying to find something like the Columbus." "Chances like those are often overlooked in Durango," said another of the group. "There was a little fellow down there from Mequilety a couple of years ago showing some good-looking ore from a claim, which he offered to trade a quarter of for a rifle. He went to the gun store and all over town trying to trade for a rifle, and the kind of gun he wanted was selling in second-hand stores for £ or $5, but the

At this time fifty Osage Indians are taking the Keeley cure for excessive whiskey drinking. Many of them are well known. Ten days ago ten of these Indians went to Kansas City and submitted to the Keeley cure. Some of these are rich in authority in the Osage tribe, some ex-chiefs and some sons of near relatives to the chiefs of the tribe. At Oklahoma City there are a number of Osage Indians who are taking the Keeley cure, and among them a half-dozen squaws, who have had a habit of taking whiskey to excess so long that it has ruined them. At Kansas City are Gran-kah-shin-kah, Silas Sanford, Me-to-loh-mole, Hun-ras-two-kah, Hiu-ah-wah-kon-tah, Wan-she-hun-kan. Tom West and Me-ke-wan-lune-kah. All these Indians stand high in their tribe, but have imbibed so freely of firewater as to destroy their usefulness. Some are rich, owning as much as 1,000 acres of land.
